APPRECIATIONS

What readers are saying of recent numbers of Art and Archaeology

"Among magazines ART AND ARCHAEOLOGY is conducted with the most distinguished courtesy."—CHRISTINE SWAYNE, Haverford, Pa.

"Many thanks for having sent me a copy of your Christmas number, which pays a splendid tribute to my country and will be deeply appreciated in France."—STEPHANE LAUZANNE, Paris.

"I appreciate very much your magazine and I think that it has many higher qualities than any other art magazine in this country, and I will try to recommend it to all my friends here and abroad."—ETTORE CADORIN, New York.

"I wish, also, to express my appreciation of the splendid articles and beautiful illustrations given in this number of the magazine, as well as for the unusually fine article in the December number, 'The Empress Eugenie and the Art of the Second Empire,' bearing your signature. In fact, every issue of the magazine seems to have a charm of its own."—MRS. CLARA S. STREETER, Denver, Colo.

"I am herewith enclosing check for $4.00 covering renewal of my subscription for the year 1921, and in so doing wish to express my appreciation of the artistic and attractive manner in which your publication is illustrated and printed."—HUGO A. KOEHLER, St. Louis, Mo.

"I want to take advantage of this opportunity to tell you how much I admire and appreciate ART AND ARCHAEOLOGY. I receive it through the courtesy of The Arts Club of your city, of which I am a member. The magazine is a marvel pictorially, a perfect exemplar of the printer's art and the text is of unfailing interest. You are doing a wonderful service to moderns in presenting in such an attractive form the history of the ancients as told by their ruins throughout the world. Each number presents a mine of information, and constitutes a real joy."—EDWIN CARLILE LITSEY, Lebanon, Ky.

"Art and Archaeology is one of the most sumptuously illustrated publications in America. It deals largely with the civilizations of the past—particularly with those which existed in America. On this account it is of especial interest to those who have travelled in the Southwest, and desire to keep abreast of the explorations and investigations in that section of the United States. To read it is to receive a liberal education in Art."—CHARLES I. TAYLOR, Boulder, Colo.
